Elsley

Where makers once forged.

Named after Thomas Elsley whose workshops produced intricate fireplaces and metalwork, the building carries a legacy of craft and creativity to this day. Elsley serves as a focal point for collaboration, much like a fireplace serves as a place to gather.

Nestled between Fitzrovia and the West End, this Art Deco landmark carries a rich history. Defined by light and scale, these open, adaptable workspaces are full of personality.

With a tranquil courtyard to pause, a fully equipped gym to recharge, and a rooftop terrace to take in the views, every space is purposefully designed to bring people together.

Where history inspires ambition.

Where makers once forged.

A spirit of craftsmanship lives on in this building, which bears the name of Thomas Elsley, a figure famous for his workshop's exquisite metalwork and fireplace commissions.

Arrive in a place to belong.

A courtyard for meeting, pausing and gathering. From curated events to pop-ups, it brings energy to the building, balanced by greenery, designed for wellbeing in mind.

Where history inspires ambition.

Defined by light and scale, these adaptable workspaces pair a neutral, calming palette of creams with heritage blue and green accents, all framed by classic Crittall windows. A textured, quiet environment designed with a distinct identity.

Where opportunity surrounds you.

Nestled between Fitzrovia and the West End, Elsley is at the heart of it all. The areas relaxed, sophisticated vibe, alongside cafés, restaurants and bustling streets, creates a hub of energy and ever-changing places to explore.

Where momentum takes a break.

Step away from the desk to recharge or find a fresh perspective in the open air. South-west facing with both open and covered seating, the terrace is a sun-drenched spot for lunch breaks and al-fresco dining.

Where your energy finds its rhythm.

A fully equipped gym and dedicated studio space support your fitness, focus, and recovery. Soft lighting and natural tones make it easy to recharge and go again.

Where the day flows seamlessly.
